

REVEALED: The Blue Fault, 47 seats where tactical voting can push the Conservatives into third place

Data compiled by StopTheTories.vote and TacticalVote.co.uk shows the 47 most marginal seats where tactical voting can push the Tories into 3rd place nationally behind the Liberal Democrats described as “The Blue Fault” effectively pushing them out of both government and official Opposition.

The Conservatives only have a small lead in the following list of 47 seats. If these seats are lost to Labour, the SNP and the Liberal Democrats they would fall into 3rd place.

Carol Vorderman from StopTheTories.vote says:

“In this election many people are already planning to vote tactically and the polls reflect a lot of that with the Tories already set to lose many seats. But we have identified the key seats where the outcome still hangs in the balance. A small push in these locations would be enough to leave the Liberal Democrats with a higher number of seats than the Conservatives.”

Becky Snowden from TacticalVote.co.uk says:

“In parliament, the Opposition’s role is to scrutinise and question the Government. We don’t think the Tories should be in this position of power after everything they’ve done over the last 14 years. We don’t just want to stop them leading the government; we want to strip them of as much power as possible. We believe the Liberal Democrats will be a much better Opposition. An Opposition who for example pushes to introduce proportional representation so that everyone’s votes count instead of pushing to allow water companies to dump sewage in our rivers.”

The tactical voting site is powered by the team at The Movement Forward, which is a campaign for proportional representation, using data and tech in the meantime to “Stop the Tories”. StopTheTories.vote is a coordinated tactical voting website championed by famous names and political commentators Carol Vorderman, Steve Coogan, Hugh Grant, Mick Hucknall, Jonathan Pie, Jemma Forte, Marina Purkiss, Peter Stefanovic, Russ “The Week in Tory” Jones, Supertanskiii, Danny F’in Price and Femi Oluwole.

ABOUT TACTICALVOTE.CO.UK

In 2017 the UK’s first ever tactical voting website known as “Tactical2017” was launched after a simple spreadsheet with tactical voting advice went viral. Rebranded as “TacticalVote.co.uk” in the 2019 election, the website has helped millions of people find out how to vote to prevent the Tories from winning in their seat, and in 2019 it was the UK’s most accurate tactical voting website. (99.5% accuracy)
